american poetry a very short introduction proposes a new theory of american poetry written in engaging language and enlivened with illuminating examples it shows that two characteristics mark the vast contentious literature on the one hand several of its major poets and critics claim that america needs a poetry equal to the country s own distinctiveness on the other hand american poetry welcomes techniques styles and traditions that originate from outside the country its influences range far beyond america s borders the force of these two competing characteristics drives both individual accomplishment and the broader field

excerpt from american poetry this book has been prepared for the purpose of encouraging the intelligent study of the history of american literature by assembling representative text of the poetry and adequate critical machinery to accompany it in making the selections two main points have been kept in mind first that taken as a whole the poems should be observable as an index both to the progress of american poetry and to the progressions of american thought second that they should fairly represent the chief characteristics of the authors in order to have them hit this latter mark it was necessary that they be ample enough to furnish material for real study of the successive poets and this fulness limited the number of units to twenty nine twenty five poets and four time groups songs epigrams and elegies of the seventeenth century almanac verse of the eighteenth and the lyrics of the revolutionary and civil wars not included in the works of the more important poets in surmountable copyright restrictions will account for the lack of a few late products by four of the best known poets and for the total omission of one or two others who could not be adequately represented these omissions however have only slightly disturbed the balance of the text the material aside from the text has been prepared with the aim of assisting the student to use his mind rather than his memory and of suggesting lines of study for him to follow the criticisms are therefore not offered as dogmatic finalities but as aids to reflection wherever they can be construed as representing the debatable opinions of the authors they will be of more service to the students who arrive at intelligent dissent from them than to those who mark and learn them with unthinking docility pains have been taken to indicate as far as possible the original places of publication in various types of periodicals from newspapers to annuals and a separate index of these data has been prepared the importance of this information and the deductions that can be drawn from it
